

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE CARTWRIGHT entertained so uniquely that the event stands out against past affairs and sets a new standard for many to come. The party on Tuesday night was planned as a Cubist, Futurist and Post Impressionist dinner-dance and proved a tremendous success. For the past year, while abroad and in Honolulu, Mrs. Cartwright and her sister, Miss Edith Williams, have been planning and making arrangements for the party. In Paris, Mrs. Cartwright had one of her rings made and painted, and there bought some of her wigs and costumes, and Ehlers and Whitney & Marsh of Honolulu made many things possible in that line. In London, at Liberty's, Mrs. Cartwright bought a good part of her Indian jewelry and Futurist china. Malcolm & Hayes, New York, printed her invitations, menus, and supplied her Cubist dinner and salad plates. Van Tynes, in New York, supplied jewelry for several costumes and there was not a thing worn by the charming hostess, in trinkets, which were not real.

The affair opened with a dinner at 8 o'clock. Mrs. H. L. Marx, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Mrs. C. H. W. Norton and Miss Rose Herbert were in the receiving line and when the guests were seated at dinner, the first number on the program started the affair with a bang.

"Velutabations of an Artist's Dream" was the first number of the program, acted by Mrs. Cartwright and L. Young Corretthers. Mrs. Cartwright in Cubist costume, composed of a purple pantaloone and a cerise train giving a divided effect, with a bodice trimmed with peacock feathers and hair richly ornamented with jewels, was Mr. Corretthers' dream-picture come to life. Descending from the Futurist stage, she greeted her guests amid a shower of rose petals and laughter.

The next on the program was the first Cubist dance, "Dance du Pass Cafe," by Abby Eucharion and L. Young Corretthers. This was a most attractive feature. The third number was "Sweet, Sublime, Simplicity," by Sara Lucas, Edith Williams and Abby Eucharion. When the curtain opened on this tableau, there came from the diners an outbreak of mirth which could not be suppressed for some time, the idea being so ridiculous and so well carried out. "Etude—Strap—ski," a Cubist piano piece, played by Mrs. D. Howard Hitchcock, called forth an ovation from the enthusiastic listeners. "Swampy Swamps" was an altogether odd dance originated and given by Miss Carol Low. Miss Low was dressed entirely in cerise, hair, eyebrows and gown, and attached from her fingers were countless narrow ribbons. This was the new point in the dance, which took the audience by storm.

The sixth number was by L. Young Corretthers, who danced in a blue and gold costume. It was called "Sounds on a Hot June Night." "Thirtidations," by Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, was number eight on the program and proved the most original of all. The last piece was "Angelic, Aesthetic and Aerial Thoughts of Sweet Young Girl" by Miss Edith Williams, who danced in a blue angel costume, looking the part she was portraying. This closed the dinner part and the guests gathered in the drawing room for the art exhibit. The guests were asked to guess the name of a Futurist picture, done in the new French mode of art. Miss Marion Newhall took the first prize, guessing "Sans Souci, or Naked Truth." Both were very fitting. Among the pictures in the gallery were "The Evolvement of Soul," by D. Howard Hitchcock, "Me Chasing It," by Mrs. Cartwright, showing Mrs. Cartwright ever chasing a pet idea, never quite getting hold of it. "Thoughts," by Mrs. Cartwright and others by artistically inclined guests were exhibited.

Mrs. George Carter captured the first prize for the most gorgeous costume and Mrs. Walter Dillingham for the most beautiful. Mrs. H. P. Agee took the prize for the most original and a roll of Futurist wall paper was given to Mr. Merwin Carson as the man who will have a Futurist home. Some of the gowns worn were:

Mrs. Hermann H. Zornig, the bride of Lieut. Zornig of Fort Kanehameha, and one of the most popular matrons of the Service Set.

Mrs. George Collins looked very stunning in a purple gown, hair and eyebrows to match.

Miss Carol Low was a picture in cerise chiffon. Her cerise, Futurist coiffure and eyebrows carried off the harmony of the costume.

Miss Sara Lucas in a Cubist gown of red, yellow, green and many other colors, played her part well.

Mrs. Jack London appeared as the "Candy Kid" of the Future. Dressed in a long white robe, twined round and round with bright red satin. She gave the affect of a peppermint stick.

Mrs. Walter Dillingham, who took first prize for the most beautiful costume, was in blue taffeta garnished with artificial fruit, with a blue wig, dutch-cut, giving an extreme touch of the latest mode of dressing the hair.

Mrs. George R. Carter took first prize for the most gorgeous costume. A green velvet gown, with touches of gold and great white wig, made up her costume.

Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker

was in an extremely short yellow dress covered entirely with long white ostrich plumes. Her yellow wig carried two of the same plumes. Mrs. Crocker wore chiffon leggings, ornamented with two immense silver pins.

Mrs. Ferdinand Hedemann portrayed "Hungarian Rhapsodie" in pink with a pink headress and silver boots. Miss Jessie Kennedy was in green and black.

Mrs. William B. Lymer was stunning in yellow with yellow wig, yellow eyebrows and hair ornamented with two very high yellow feathers.

Some among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. May, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. W. Norton, Judge and Mrs. William B. Lymer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hedemann, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hedemann, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. D. Howard Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. High, Mr. and Mrs. E. Axon Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Agee, Mr. and Mrs. Mackintosh, Hon. and Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Gay, Senator and Mrs. E. A. Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Swanzy, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Marx, Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Hedemann, Mr. and Mrs. Jack London, the Misses Abby Buchanan, Sara Lucas, Helen Spalding, Edith Williams, Rosie Herbert, Jessie Kennedy, Lady Macfarlane, Wilhelmina Tenney, Mary Lucas, Harriet Lucas, Marion Newhall, Myrtle Schuman, Nora Swanzy, Nancy-Anne Lea and Carol Low; Messrs. Bob Purvis, Cornell Franklin, Fred Wickham, George Ahlborn, George Fuller, Howard Hedemann, Erling Hedemann, Ed Hedemann, Charles Lucas, Will Lewers, L. Young Corretthers, Charles Herbert, Fred Price, George Desha, Stanley Kennedy and Harry Lucas.

Chillingworth-Kincaid. Simple in every appointment was the marriage of Miss Elsa Kincaid and Mr. Sam Chillingworth, which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand H. Hons in Manoa valley on Tuesday evening. The Hons home was a bower of white lilies and ferns and beneath the arrangement of flowers, maile and white tulle, Rev.

Father Stephen read the marriage service.

The bride was a charming picture in a gown of soft white satin ornamented with filmy lace. She wore an attractive tulle cap arranged to fall low over her shoulders and fastened with clusters of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas and orchids. She entered the room with Senator James L. Coke, who gave her into the keeping of the bridegroom.

Mrs. James L. Coke was matron of honor and was becomingly costumed in pink satin trimmed with pink roses. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Lieut. Ferdinand Chillingworth Hons carried the ring and Bradford Sumner acted as best man.

After the ceremony there was an informal reception and later Mr. and Mrs. Chillingworth slipped quietly away to Niu, where they are spending their honeymoon. Upon their return to town they will reside in a bungalow in Manoa which the bridegroom has recently built.

Mrs. Chillingworth is a mainland girl. She has been in the islands a little more than a year. She has won hosts of friends here, who are delighted that she is to make her home in Hawaii.

Mr. Chillingworth is a brother of Mrs. Ferdinand Hons. He is widely known over the islands and generally popular.

The Beaches Are Popular.

"What is so rare as a day in June?" The past few days, typical of the month, have seen a goodly number of people of Honolulu in the surf at Waikiki. The clubs and hotels have been filled with merry-makers, sipping tea and enjoying the cool breezes of outdoor life on the beach. There have been a number of the "new" bathing suits appearing from time to time, showing that the demand for ease and comfort in the swimming suit is outweighing the idea that the girls and women must be encumbered and impeded by heavy skirts and stockings.

The American girl of today is athletic. She swims, plays polo, base ball and enters into the sports which her grandmother would have thought disgraceful. She also takes pride in the tanned skin, wrought by the summer sun when, with short sleeves and collar turned in she hurls a ball or with graceful stride follows the little pellet on the golf links.

In Honolulu, there is every opportunity for the athletic girl. There is the ever enticing surf, the beautifully situated Country Club, where facilities for golf may be obtained. She may play polo at Moanalua or swing the racquet at any number of courts and very soon there will be formed a girl's baseball team. And the most attractive feature of all is the ever-glorious weather.

Engagements Rumored.

It has been intimated that two or three of the younger girls in Honolulu's smart set are planning to announce their engagements but that they are putting off the telling of the delightful news until they can find some uniquely attractive and novel way of giving away the secret.

Recently at an engagement party in San Francisco the bride-to-be chose a dinner as the form of entertainment and invited 24 of her friends to the affair. Just before the first course was brought to the table the butler placed before one of the guests a huge box tied with dainty pink ribbon. Upon opening the package the surprised young lady found a real live baby dressed in fluffy tulle and to his shoulders were fastened cunning little white wings that gave the youngster quite the air of Cupid. In his tiny little fists he held a gilded bow and arrow to which were attached engraved cards bearing the names of the hostess and her fiancé.

At another engagement afternoon a telegram was brought to one member of the party and upon reading the guest found the news of the betrothal which was quickly spread to the guests.

In Honor of Col. and Mrs. F. P. Reynolds.

A charming affair of this week was the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Chillingworth entertained on Thursday evening in honor of Col. and Mrs. F. P. Reynolds. The color scheme in the decorations was purple and yellow and was carried out by double yellow crapepops, purple pansies and graceful streamers of yellow tulle. Covers were laid for Col. and Mrs. F. P. Reynolds, Mayor and Mrs. John C. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. C. Haynes, Judge and Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson and the host and hostess. During the dinner hour Kai's quintet played popular airs.

University of California Men Anxious to Come to Hawaii.

A letter received from a Honolulu girl who has spent the year studying at the University of California tells of the desire of the varsity ball team to make a trip to Honolulu this summer. They made many friends in Honolulu during their visit last summer and indeed have talked so much of the islands that the new members of the team are anxious to come here to see for themselves the beauties of the place.

One of the members of the team who was here last year will make his wedding trip to Hawaii if the team comes. Just who it is that is planning this is being kept a secret from all but one or two of the team members. Then there are several of the other boys who left Honolulu last year with strings to a number of fair hearts and they, too, are anxious to renew the friendship.

Miss Sybil Robertson Entertains.

Miss Sybil Robertson entertained at a very informal tea at the Country Club on Wednesday afternoon for a number of her friends. The affair was a sort of farewell gathering as Miss Robertson left in the Sierra today for the mainland to be gone for some time. Some among those present on Wednesday were Miss Henrietta Schwartz, Mrs. E. W. Dorrance, Mrs. Dorrance Hood and Miss Winnifred Dorrance, Mrs. Henry Jaeger, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson, Mrs. Ernest Podmore, Mrs. Bob McElldowney and Mrs. Wallace and others. There was a large crowd on the dock today to bid Miss Robertson bon voyage.

Luncheon on Board the Maryland.

The Misses Sally Brown, Peggy Center, Josephine McCormack and Henrietta Schwartz lunched on board the U. S. S. Maryland on Wednesday with a number of the junior officers. The affair was impromptu but very informal and jolly.

Miss Sally Brown Entertains.

Miss Sally Brown entertained at a dinner party last Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Josephine McCormack, who left Honolulu on Wednesday for the Matsonia for San Francisco. The dinner, for which a singers made music, was given in the private dining room. The decorations were all in pink and the place cards were little pictures of the popular young guest of the house, pasted on white cardboard and tied with dainty bows of pink tulle. The girls in the party were all charmingly gowned, especially the honor-guest, who was in pink with an attractive bouquet of pink rose d'Amour tied on her arm. Miss Sally Brown, the hostess, was in yellow taffeta. After dinner the party gathered in the parlor to participate in the dance. The affair was a very jolly one with a touch of regret, as Miss McCormack has been one of the most popular girls in the younger set during her stay in Honolulu. It is hoped that she will return soon.

Among Miss Brown's guests were: Miss Josephine McCormack, Miss Lila McDonald, Miss Betty Cam, Miss Henrietta Schwartz, Miss Peggy Center, Miss Charlotte Barth, Lieut. C. W. Jenkins of Fort Kanehameha, Ensigns Frank P. Thomas and William H. O'Brien, Jr., of the U. S. S. Maryland; Lieut. Edward L. Kelly, Lieut. Wallace Philcox of Schofield, Lieut. Haines of the navy, who is visiting, and Ensign Chipman.

Luncheon at the Young Hotel.

At a prettily appointed luncheon at the Young hotel on Thursday Bishop and Mrs. Nibley of the Mormon church of Salt Lake City entertained on Thursday. The table was artistically decorated in red and green, carnations and ferns carrying out the color scheme. Covers were laid for President and Mrs. Joseph Smith of the Mormon organization; Senator and Mrs. Reed Smoot of Salt Lake, Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Woolley of Laie, Mrs. E. K. Fernandez, Mrs. A. B. R. Fernandez, Mrs. J. L. Harper, Mrs. S. A. Catter and Mrs. E. M. Grune. Bishop and Mrs. Nibley sail for the mainland on Saturday in the Sierra.

For Miss Octavia Johnson.

One of the many delightful affairs planned in the honor of Miss Octavia Johnson, a charming visitor in Honolulu, is the tea at which Mrs. Charles F. Chillingworth is to entertain on Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. The guests for the most part will include members of the younger set, among whom Miss Johnson has many friends. Miss Johnson is planning to leave Honolulu on June 16 when the Wilhelmina makes her next San Francisco-bound trip.

The Misses Bess and Ruth Seybolt Entertain.

An affair to which many of the young folks have been looking forward this week is the dance at which Miss Bess Seybolt and Miss Ruth Seybolt are entertaining this evening in honor of the graduating members of the N.Y.s. The affair is to take place at the Myrtle Boat Club, which has been decorated with bright-colored flags and palms for the occasion. Some among those who have been invited to the affair are Miss Louise Lightfoot, Miss Marion Lightfoot, Miss Gladys Trout, Miss Lillian Fennell, Miss Ethel Fennell, Miss Avis Fennell, Miss Abbie Lucas, Miss Violet Lucas, Miss Lel Alan, Miss Millie Alana, Miss Abbie Fromley, Miss Gladys Auerbach, Miss Theima Auerbach, Miss Maud Manning, Miss Georgia Armstrong, Miss Eva McCormack, Miss Psyche Barry, Miss Claire Berry, Miss Kathleen Walker, Miss Sophie Walker, Miss Mae Walker, Miss Florence Davis, Miss Margaret McCarthy, Miss Virginia McNamara, Miss Louise McCarty, Miss Helen Center, Miss Octavia Johnson, Miss Ruth Stacker, Miss Miriam Stacker, Miss Cornelle McCann, Miss Louise Coleman, Alan Podmore, Campbell Crozier, Elmer Crozier, Grey Zahriske, Chester Bokeland, Watson Pallentyne, Gustav Ballentyne, Oswald Lightfoot, Chester Taylor, Oswald Stevens, Martin Fennell, George D. Center, Gordon Brown, Gilbert Brown, Warner Dassel, Sydney Nicholson, Mr. Perry, E. C. San Francisco Jeweled.

Mrs. Wickham Havens of Piedmont took society by storm when she wore her diamond dog collar and her diamond brooch and large solitaires for the first time this season at the ball of Thousand Colors, which formally opened the municipal auditorium of Oakland. The collection of diamonds was one of the most exquisite seen in the ball room. On many occasions Mrs. Havens has appeared in her gorgeous emeralds. The Oriental style of jewelry is worn exclusively by Mrs. Frank C. Havens, who is a lover of antiques, while Mrs. Bud Havens prefers a single string of pearls. Mrs. Roland Oliver has jewels that cost a fortune, many of them bequeathed by her mother. Exquisite bedrooms are also worn by Mrs. Robert Hillard Collins of San Leandro and Mrs. Robert Mott of Alameda.—San Francisco News-Letter.
